Marilyn Pounds

Marilyn Pounds, originally from Pennsylvania, is now a long time resident of Brunswick County, North Carolina.

Marilyn is an award winning artist who works in an impressionistic style in oil and watercolor. Her landscapes reflect her sensitivity to the beauty and color of her surroundings. Marilyn uses plein air painting to inspire her and to help her compensate for the distortions of photo references. When she develops a plein air painting in her studio, the paintings reflect the unique flavor of the places where she painted outdoors.

Marilyn has won numerous awards for her oil and watercolor paintings, including the prestigious Winsor and Newton painting award. Marilyn has her work displayed in several galleries and much of her work is in private collections.

Marilyn is a member of several local artists' associations and is the past president of the Waterway Art Association of Brunswick County, North Carolina. She has studied with Mary Whyte of Charleston, SC, Terry Singer Harrison of Supply, NC, John Poon, Wyoming,, Betty Brown of Wilmington, NC, Joan Sanders of Carolina Shores, NC, Fred Graff, Ohio, Connie Winters, Matthews, NC, Mike Rooney, N. Topsail Beach, NC., Don Getz, Ohio and other eminent artists.

Giclee prints are available of many of her paintings and can be made in a variety of sizes.
